GRAMMAR | Some, any, every, no

1 Something to do

Luke, Dave and Jay are talking about what they could do. Complete their conversation with the correct words.

| something | nothing | anywhere | anything | somewhere | everything |

Luke: Maybe there's ___something___ interesting on TV.

Jay: No, there's __nothing__ good on TV this afternoon.

Dave: Then let's go __somewhere__ nice.

Jay: Do you know __anywhere__ nice that's free?

Dave: Yes, Mudchute Farm. That doesn't cost __anything__ .

Luke: Great idea! It's fun and __everything__ is free there.

2 Mouse!?

Complete the words with some, any, every or no.

Yesterday Jay and Amir were sitting in a café when __some__ thing strange happened. Suddenly __some__ body shouted, "Mouse!" It was so loud that __every__ body heard. "Where?" shouted one of the girls at the next table.

"Did __any__ body___ see where it went?" But ___no__ body answered because ___no__ body knew.

So __every__ body in the café started to look for it. First they looked under the tables, but there was ___no__ thing there. Then they looked under the cupboards, but there wasn't __any__ thing there. They looked __every__ where, but it was __no__ where. Then the girls started to laugh and the owner got angry. "Listen, __every__ body," he said in a loud voice. "If __any__ body shouts 'Mouse!' again, there's going to be big trouble!" So after that __every__ body was quiet and __no__ body said __any__ thing at all.
