

Conditional sentences: tandem exercise

Conditional sentences		Conditional sentences
Example If we don't give him enough food our dog ~ (to be) angry.		Example If we don't give him enough food our dog will be angry
1	If I ~ (to be) you I would go to Toni's birthday party.	1	If I were you I would go to Toni's birthday party.
2	If there was no school I would be glad.	2	If there was no school I ~ (to be) glad.
3	If I get my pocket money tomorrow, I ~ (to buy) a new CD.	3	If I get my pocket money tomorrow, I will buy a new CD.
4	I will call you tomorrow, if I have enough time.	4	I will call you tomorrow, if I ~ (to have) enough time.
5	I ~ (to come) home at five, if I get the early bus.	5	I will come home at five, if I get the early bus.
6	It would be strange, if I saw an elephant in our classroom.	6	It would be strange, if I ~ (to see) an elephant in our classroom.
7	If we had snow, I ~ (not to ride) my bike to school.	7	If we had snow, I wouldn't ride my bike to school.
8	If you prepare well, you'll get a good mark in the test.	8	If you ~ (to prepare) well, you'll get a good mark in the test.
9	I wouldn't buy that t-shirt if I ~ (to be) you.	9	I wouldn't buy that t-shirt if I were you.
10	I ~ (to sing), if there was no school tomorrow.	10	I would sing , if there was no school tomorrow.
11	If I see you tomorrow I will give you back your CDs.	11	If I see you tomorrow I ~ (to give) you back your CDs.
12	I ~ (to stay) in bed all day, if I was ill.	12	I would stay in bed all day, if I was ill.

english, exercise, grammar