Reported version

Lea said, that the US was quite a cool and multi cultural country. She also said that the most popular sports were American football, soccer, basketball and volleyball. She told us that they played lots of soccer, but it was an typical girl's sport there at the Highschool not like at our school. She also said that there were many fastfood restaurants like Burger King or McDonald's but mostly sandwich stores. Lea told us that her exchange family had been very sporty, so at the weekend they often had gone to sports meets and had done sports as well. She also said that her exchange family had been vegan so they had not eaten many burgers or other fastfood. Her exchange partner had been very shy and had not spoken that much. She said that she definitely would go back there again because three weeks had been too short. She also means that it had been a great experience and told us that she would advice everyone to go there.
